PENINSULA SOCIAL MISCELLANY

Short Paragraphs of Personal and Social Events Among Our Neighbors Across the Halifax.

Mr. C. D. Abernethy, who has been on a visit to his parents here, returned Monday to resume his work in Birmingham, Ala.

The dance at Keating's Saturday night was quite well attended in spite of the inclement weather, about twenty couples being present.

The Thursday evening card parties at the Kennie are quite a social enjoyment. Eight tables were played last week.

Quite a number of the auto racers have arrived and the beach is crowded with people all the time watching them running up and down the beach.

The dance at the Armory Thursday evening was well attended by the Seabreeze young folks.

Miss Bell Caverhill is on the sick list this week. Her many friends wish her a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Susie Phelps, of Springfield, Mass., arrived Friday afternoon and will remain all winter. She spent last season here and made many friends.

We are glad to report Mrs. A. M. Sims much improved.

Quite a serious accident happened Sunday morning. Two of Mr. Haigh's horses got frightened at some object and ran away. Mr. Bailey, the toll keeper, attempted to stop them and one of the horses kicked him in the side, breaking three ribs. We hope his injury will not prove fatal.

The two room addition to Mr. Wesley Herdick's cottage is almost completed and is quite an improvement.

Mortimer Courtney left this week for Miami, where he goes to accept a position.

The foundation is being laid for Dr. Van Valzah's residence. The house is to be of coquina rock, and will be quite a handsome structure.

The "Trip Around the World," which was given Monday evening was a great success, although there would have been a much larger crowd had the weather been better. About eighty some odd dollars was realized.

Miss Helen Carpenter, of New York, has organized a class in dancing, physical culture and the german, at the opera house. The first lessons were given Saturday afternoon.

The new reel organ has arrived for the Methodist church and will soon be in working order so it can be used for Conference.

J. C. Butler is building a five-room cottage near Goodall postoffice.

Miss F. E. Fish, of New York, and Miss M. A. Jones, of Boston, are at the Whitteburg.

Mrs. J. Allen and daughters, the Misses Lillian and Burnice, of Washington, D. C., are here for the winter. They are stopping at The Glenwood.

The orchestra for the Clarendon has arrived and every afternoon and evening beautiful music can be heard in the parlor of that hotel.

The ground is being cleared for the new Congregational church.

Proposed Concert.

Wilford Russell, baritone versatile, of London, England, vaudeville entertainer from Keith's theatre, etc., will render an up to date program in St. Mary's Hall, Orange avenue, Jan. 30, to aid fund for building an Episcopal church at Seabreeze.

A Criticism.

A correspondent from Ormond, in a letter dated January 19, makes the following criticism:

"I am not at all stuck on the way the editor of The Daily News—a good many people call it the 'Guess at the News,'—puts the auto races before the people. All other papers in Florida refer to the Ormond-Daytona beach, but The News puts it the Daytona-Ormond beach. Now then please tell me or show me where in h— did Daytona ever have a beach? I have been a subscriber a good many years but if this thing goes on you may as well take my name off the subscription list."

For obvious reasons we do not mention our correspondent's name. We will bear the subject in mind, however, and when we have leisure a good Government surveyor will be asked to make the dividing line, if he is able to locate Ormond beach.

An Old Favorite

YOUTH AND AGE

By Charles Kingsley

NO writer in the language has shown a greater power of description than Kingsley. Landscape, beast and bird are invested with poetic charm. . . . The verdict of time has placed Kingsley among the minor poets. His genius was not equal to a sustained flight. He will be best remembered by those short dramatic lyrics which he sang in measures approaching perfection. Warner's Library of the World's Best Literature.

WHEN all the world is young, lad,
And everything is green,
And every goose a swan, lad,
And every lass a queen,
Then boot, lad, and horse, lad,
And round the world away,
And go it while you're young, lad—
Each dog must have his day.

When all the world gets old, lad,
And all the trees turn brown,
And all the jests get stale, lad,
And all the wheels run down,
Then lie back to thy home, lad—
The maimed and sick among;
Thank God! if then you find one face
You loved when you were young.

What Caused It.

"How came you to this?"
"Well, boss, I s'pose I wuz allus a bad egg, an' den I wuz in a bad set too!"—San Francisco Examiner.

Another Edition.

"Where have you been until this late hour?" asked the wife of a literary man, when he came home in the wee small hours.

"Oh, I've been sitting up with a sick friend," replied the man, hanging his hat on the gas jet.

"If any one should ask you, dear, don't forget to tell him that that is the forty-fifth edition of that particular piece of your fiction."—Yonkers Statesman.

The Honest Marketman.

"I declare!" exclaimed the marketman, consulting his order sheet. "Here's Mrs. Enseigh's order for a five pound roast, and I promised she should not have to wait more than ten minutes for it, and she gave the order two hours ago. Well, I must keep my word and give her a short weight."

Saying which, he weighed his hand in with the roast.—Chicago Tribune.

Tommy Gets Information.

Tommy Figgjam—Paw, what is a "high crime?"
Faw Figgjam—One that costs the public many thousands to prove that the criminal was insane and many hundreds more to keep the influential prisoner in an asylum instead of hanging him.—Baltimore American.

Gathering Wisdom.

"All I need," remarked the college youth who was taking an examination, "is a little time to collect my thoughts." From various pockets and other places of concealment he drew a number of eras.

He passed.—Cleveland Leader.

Miss Listener—Then you didn't join that philanthropic organization?
Mrs. Chatterbox—No; when I intimated to the ladies that I wanted to do something for charity one of them suggested that I might begin by holding my tongue.—Detroit Free Press.

The Drummer's Narrow Escape From Prison

"I SUPPOSE there comes to every man a desire to do something smart on an occasion," said the drummer as a sigh took the place of his smile.

"Well, such a desire came to me as I was leaving a certain southern city after a week's stay. The waiter at my table had called me 'general' and been at great pains to care for me, and I made up my mind to reward him with a five dollar bill. It was a counterfeit with which I had been struck, but I thought it would be the biggest kind of a joke to work it off on Bob. He almost rubbed the floor with his nose in his delight, and I went my way chuckling over the 'sell.'"

"And did it turn out to be funny?" was asked.

"I will let you judge of that. I had got a hundred miles away when I was arrested on a telegram for passing counterfeit money, and when taken back I was arraigned in a United States court and had to give bail and appear on three different occasions. I had a lawyer and other expenses, lost a good three weeks altogether and just escaped prison by the skin of my teeth. In addition to this I had to make good to the waiter, who sorrowfully shook his head when he received the money and said:

"It's sorry for you, general, but dis may be de means of savin' your contemptible soul from the gallus!"—Brooklyn Citizen.

Trying It on the Dog.

As he came toward her down the hill, his great dog Caesar ambling at his side, she, the friend of his parents, said to herself with emotion that she had never beheld so gracious, so lovable, a child.

He held out his hand as he approached, disclosing within its palm a somewhat shapeless chocolate cream. This he affectionately pressed upon her. Thinking to please him, she took it and, as he seemed not quite satisfied, proceeded to eat it. When she had finished, "Did you like it?" he asked earnestly.

"Very much," she answered, smiling. "Well," he said slowly, "I'm glad you liked it, because Caesar didn't!"—Lippincott's Magazine.

A Conscientious Architect.

Caller—I have $10,000 to put into a house, and I wish to select a design.
Honest Architect—Yes, sir, John, show the gentleman the plans of our $3,000 houses.—New York Weekly.

He Spoke From Experience.

"Colonel, do you think there is any money in horse racing?"
"Yes, indeed. All mine is."—New York Times.

M. E. Church Supper.

The bazaar and supper held by the ladies of the First M. E. Church at the Armory last night returned more money and was better patronized than was anticipated.

The hall was beautifully decorated and the different booths presented a very attractive and alluring appearance. The Japanese and fancy article booths deserve especial mention for the careful and tasteful arrangement. To Mrs. McMurray, who had general charge of the affair, is due much of the credit for the excellent results, she having devoted much of her time to insure this result.

It was estimated last night that the Japanese booth, presided over by Mrs. Pitcher, had netted about $10. The supper tables cleared at least $100 and the fancy article booth, presided over by Mrs. Geo. Doane, had taken in $25. No returns could be obtained from the candy booth.

Specialties of The Show.

Conspicuous among the many specialties of the Miles Orton show is the barrel jumping feat of Jacobs and McCue. This is a very difficult stunt but is performed with ease by the nimble twain.

To jump into a barrel and out again is no simple trick, but this pair jump from barrel to barrel and travel up a stairway while doing it. They conclude on the top of a table by both leaping into the last barrel from opposite sides simultaneously.

The Bremen musical team also deserves special mention. It is composed of Miss Maud and Ed. Bremen. They are artists of rare talent.

Ed. Johnson, the clown who keeps the audience in an uproar of laughter, is another star of the show.

The attendance last night was a repetition of the previous evening, the tiers of benches being well filled but not uncomfortably crowded.—St. Augustine Record.

E. A. Briggs, of New York, has arrived for another winter's visit. He is, as heretofore, a guest at The Ridgewood.

Library Association.

On Thursday, Jan. 12, the annual meeting of the Library Association was held at the residence of Mrs. E. T. Conrad, at which the following officers were elected: J. N. Gamble, president; Rev. C. W. Arnold, vice president; Mrs. Graham Thompson, treasurer; Mrs. Wm. Atwood, secretary; Mrs. L. O. Rawson, Mrs. Laurence Thompson, Mrs. E. T. Conrad, Miss M. C. Wilder and Miss Genevieve Robinson, trustees.

The treasurers report was received, as follows:

Balance Jan. 12, 1904.....$81.55
Receipts: Subscriptions & fines.....159.33
B & L dividends.....36.87
Donation from Mr. Gamble.....100.00
Donation to building fund.....435.00
Total.....813.25
Expenditures: Librarian's sal.....138.00
Electric lighting.....18.00
Reading room supplies.....10.80
Books and magazines.....88.81
Insurance for 3 years.....15.90
B & L stock.....450.00
Total.....721.51
Balance Jan. 11, 1905.....91.74

The building fund consists of $750 invested in B & L stock, and $48.75 of the above balance, which is to be invested in stock as soon as it amounts to $50. The balance available for general purposes of the library is therefore only $42.99, $38.56 less than at this time last year.

Respectfully submitted,

May E. Thompson, Treasurer.

The above report shows that the yearly expenses of librarian's salary and lighting are barely covered by the annual subscriptions, and that the other expenses have not been covered even by the liberal donation of Mr. Gamble, who for nine years has been contributing annually the same sum. It is clear that unless more interest is taken in the work of the association by the people of the city there is no hope of being able to erect a building for many years. The reading room and library have been patronized by increasing numbers each year, which shows that they are needed.

It seems that a strong effort ought to be made at once, as it is very uncertain how long we may be able to retain the use of the present room. It is, therefore, very desirable that all who are willing to help should at once make known to the treasurer, or one of the officers, the amount they are willing to subscribe.

D. P. Smith and wife, Newark, N. J.; S. Fred Cummings, Miss Baker, Miss G. Baker, Port Orange; L. W. Lawton, Boston; A. Salliday and wife, Watertown, Wis.; Dr. Paul Cohn, Austria; F. J. Buckley, Bay City, Mich., are Despland guests.
